HILLCREST DISASTER INQUIRY COMMISSION OPENS ITS SESSIONS

Hillcrest, Alta., July 2.—Before his honor Judge Carpenter, of Calgary, the inquiry commission appointed by the provincial government of Alberta to determine as far as possible the cause and effect of the recent Hillcrest disaster, in which 186 miners were killed, was opened this morning at 10 o'clock in the Masonic hall, William Campbell, crown prosecutor at Macleod, representing the Alberta government, Colin Macleod, of Macleod, the Hillcrest engineers, John B. Palmer, of Lethbridge, representing the miners union, assisted by Norman Fraser, provincial inspector of mines, who will give expert evidence; G. R. Hudson, the department of mines at Ottawa, and a number of other interested parties representing the interests of local miners, including James L. and James Burke, president and secretary of Bellevue union. Mine inspector J. T. Sterling, of Edmonton, who has been in Hillcrest since the explosion, is present, and prepared to give evidence if called upon.

In opening the proceedings, his honor informed counsel that the commission was appointed with the object of obtaining the fullest information possible as to the cause and effect of the disaster, that every interested party would be given an opportunity, and that any witnesses desired would be subpoenaed by Mr. Campbell. Mr. Palmer pointed out to the commission that there were certain portions of mine numbers one and two which had not been examined by expert Fraser owing to the presence of gas, and suggested an adjournment until this was done, but his honor to see whether the evidence would be forthcoming to proceed with until this was done.

A number of witnesses to give evidence has not yet been determined, neither the duration of the inquiry, but the following have been advised by Mr. Campbell of the inquiry and are present: Palmer and Macleod, barristers of Lethbridge; the managing director of the Hillcrest Coal company, A. J. Carter, secretary-treasurer of the U.M.W. of America, Fernie, B.C.; James Gordon, secretary of the U.M.W. of America, of Hillcrest; and Mr. Graham, vice-president of the U.M.W. of America, Edmonton.

No plan having been drawn up as to the form of procedure, the commission should take an adjournment, was suggested by his honor, in which case the adjournment was adjourned to the following day, and counsel on both sides were ordered to appear at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

THINKS ROOSEVELT IS DISCOVERER OF RIVER OF DOUBT

New York, July 2.—Theodore Roosevelt discovered the "River of Doubt," just as he has described, is the belief of Albert Lange, the explorer, who arrived here today aboard the steamship Demos, of the Bonito line. He returned from Brazil, where he has been exploring the interior, working inland from the lower stretches of the Amazon.

Mr. Lange also reported the discovery of a new tribe of Indians, whose name in their own tongue is Ararawans.

"There is not the least doubt in my mind concerning Mr. Roosevelt's pioneer work in exploring and charting the 'River of Doubt,'" he said. "I have talked with the native half-breeds and the government officials and they all agree the river had never been charted until Mr. Roosevelt put it on the map. There are a good many more rivers in Brazil, but none have been explored, and he has gone down one of these and charted it, but none the less he did good work in so doing."

POLICE COURT

The police department, and especially the morality branch, are working early and late these days rounding up law breakers and undesirable, and were able to secure a number of convictions in court this morning.

On a charge of selling liquor without a license John Zanolli was fined $100 and costs. Three girls were produced as proof.

R. E. Race was fined $10 and costs for failing to have a light on his car. Messrs. Gibbs, Moody and Clark were fined $20 and costs for travelling 21 miles an hour, which was the fact of the case. The magistrate issued a warning, that hereafter the fine will be $100 and costs.

J. H. Woods drove his car past a red light when standing and paid over $10 and costs for first offence.

The charge against George McKay was dismissed. McKay was alleged to have falsified represented himself to be a police officer, but was told that it occurred, was not covered in the criminal code. In addressing McKay, the magistrate told him that he did not appreciate how lucky he was to get off on this charge, and that if he had been caught, he would have been sent to jail.

Joe Crook paid $5 and costs for beating up another man, and Mrs. Lillian Richardson paid the same amount for beating a woman and the wife of a policeman charged with assault and beating, and damage of property. The complainant, Francis Alkinson, who runs a cabaret on Third street, stated that the accused had been standing at a telephone cash register, counter and other things, and generally misbehaving.

George McWilliams and E. Martin were vagrants and will spend the next 10 days in jail. They were charged with a life offence paid $2 and costs for John Barrett for assaulting a police officer, and for being drunk and violent. John Barrett was charged with assaulting a police officer, and for being drunk and violent.

KITTENS ARE BORN IN AN APPLE TREE

Tarrytown, N. Y., July 2.—When Morris Newman of Washington street tried to take a green apple from his favorite tree in the front yard, a blind kitten fell at his feet. An instant later the kitten was dead, and the apple was found to be the cause of its death.

Where used to sit as a boy there was a litter of six more of the little blind kittens.

SCARECROW IN SHEATH
GOWN DISGUSTS CROWS

Marquette, Wis., July 2.—Farmer Howard Smith was nearly worried to death over the crows which played hide-and-seek with him for days. He was so worried that he was nearly driven to distraction.

Ex-deputy Wright swore that he could see of no injuries to Wylie.

Doctor Williamson, of the north side hospital, stated that Wylie was confined to the hospital several days and was in great pain.

Ex-deputy Wright stated that he knew Wylie, but did not know of any injuries to him.

Inspector Hall told him that Wylie was a case of "Nikolai's men."

Wylie, although he admitted that he was a case of "Nikolai's men," was very sarcastic in his own examination of ex-deputy Wright when the latter said he did not know of any injuries to Wylie.

Justice Peck put a series of questions to Wylie, and he answered them in a very sarcastic manner.

Health Restored By
"Fruit-a-lives"

DIAGNOSIS BY LIT. ENT. AG. 26th, 1913.

"About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My stomach and liver were not doing their work, and became all run down. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-lives' advertised, I decided to try them.

Their effect, I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the results all that could have been expected.

My liver and kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old time vitality. Today I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever enjoyed, and I subscribe to the 'Fruit-a-lives' testimonial for publication if you wish."

B. A. KELLY.

In hundreds of letters, the same expression is used "Fruit-a-lives is the best health remedy in the world." MEDIATORS TAKE INDEFINITE RECESS.

Following the receipt of a note from General Carranza saying that he would like to take part in informal conferences with the Huerta delegates for the solution of Mexico's internal problems, but asking for more time, the A. B. C. mediators have decided upon an indefinite recess. Up to date the principal result of the Niagara Falls conference is an agreement by the United States to recognize any provisional government that may be constructed in conference between representatives of the federalist and constitutionalist parties of Mexico. The other matters mentioned in the protocol as adopted are of secondary and incidental importance compared with this fact.

According to the views held by many of the American newspapers, this concession does not seem to be very much of an achievement as reward for the weeks of labor spent by the A. B. C. mediators; it is held at the best only a beginning. But, on the other hand, it is all that could reasonably be expected and at least it affords the mediators opportunity to "save their faces" and it gives the conference an appearance of genuine success which may or may not materialize. It also furnishes a basis for future negotiations.

At present the chief menace to any program which may grow out of the adoption of the Niagara Falls protocol is the capture of Zecatecas by Pancho Villa, with the aid of the American government. This success is so notable and of so material importance that it may easily take away any disposition on the part of the constitutionalists to discuss settlements with the federal government except on the battlefield. Much, however, may depend upon the attitude taken by the American government. If it encourages Villa to keep on with his campaign, the negotiations between the representatives of Huerta and Carranza will probably amount to very little. But if it is able and willing to put a curb on Villa, the negotiations may bring about for the immediate present a cessation of bloodshed, and for the future some permanent adjustment of the existing turmoil below the national border. From a humanitarian, we might add from a pacifist standpoint, it is quite clearly the duty of the American government to stop the warfare in Mexico as soon as possible.

The fact that in the past its policy has resulted in an increase of bloodshed rather emphasizes this present duty. If the administration in Washington had been able to understand that war between the federals and the rebels in Mexico is just as hideous a thing in its essence as war between the United States and Mexico would be, the history of the last few months might have been very different. It is a sad thing that the pacific W. J. Bryan, secretary of state, has been able to view war as an evil only when his country has seemed likely to become involved in it. The United States lost a few marines at Vera Cruz and the country very properly honored them and mourned for them. The federal army and Villa's army lost thousands at Torreón and Zecatecas because the American government made those battles possible. Are the dead at Torreón and Zecatecas any less dead than the dead at Vera Cruz?

If the meeting between Mexican delegates announced to supplement the mediation conference actually takes place, Washington will have a great deal to do with its fate. Officially the American government will have no part in it, but actually the stand of the Carranza representatives is likely to be colored considerably by the extent and character of the advice and support given them by the Washington administration.

So far as the situation at Vera Cruz is concerned, the United States gains a distinct advantage as a result of the protocol just agreed upon. It is tacitly given the permission of the Huerta government to remain in possession until some sort of an arrangement is reached between the opposing forces in the Mexican civil war. The awkward question how to get out of Vera Cruz is for the moment in abeyance. The relief in Washington must be immense.

TAX REFORM WAS ROWELL'S OPPORTUNITY.

It is stated that the chief issue in the Ontario elections was the "abolish-the-bar" policy instituted by N. W. Rowell, the liberal leader.

If such were the case, then the result certainly does not lend much hope to Mr. Rowell's ever ascending to power on that platform, as the liberals polled over twice as many votes as at the previous general election, yet failed appreciably to reduce Sir James Whitney's lopsided majority.

One of the noteworthy features of the result was that the two Ottawa city seats turned from conservative to liberal. It will be remembered that a short while before the election the Citizen, an Ottawa paper which has been a strong supporter of the tax reform proposals of the liberal party, announced that it would not support Whitney in the contest because of his constant refusal to do something in this direction.

Surely the overwhelming turn-over in the two Ottawa seats will give Mr. Rowell the right clue to take if he ever wishes to be premier of Ontario. If the conservative party maintains its present official attitude in the matter of tax reform, the most splendid opportunity for a liberal victory at the next provincial election will remain open.

It is known, of course, that a large proportion of the conservatives of Ontario, as well as other provinces, as well as practically all the liberals, want tax reform. They at least want their own communities to have the right to say whether they shall tax a man for displaying energy enough to erect a building or not. This would not be as advanced as Alberta's present legislation, but even this Sir James refused. It is difficult to see any argument that could be advanced in favor of his action, and if the Ontario liberals had gone to the country with tax reform as their chief battle cry they would have undoubtedly received a far greater measure of support.

The result in the two Ottawas ought to tell both parties in Ontario and all parties elsewhere which way the wind is blowing. It will no doubt serve to show advocates of tax reform that they are not so very far ahead of the times when they feel like advancing further along in that direction.

The Adventures of Kathlyn

By Harold MacGrath.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.—Kathlyn, having been taken by her father, is now in the hands of the Huerta forces. She is being held in a secret place, and her father is being sought by the Carranza forces. The story continues with the adventures of Kathlyn and her father in the hands of the Huerta forces.

When Kathlyn awoke, at the expiration of the week of agony, her father was lying in a secret place, and she was being held in a secret place. The story continues with the adventures of Kathlyn and her father in the hands of the Huerta forces.

On his part, Bruce did not particularly welcome the sea. There might be another man somewhere. No woman so beautiful as Kathlyn could possibly be without suitors. And when the journey down to the sea was resumed he became taciturn and moody, and Kathlyn's heart correspondingly heavy.

The colonel was quite oblivious to this change. He was giving his full attention to the primitive stirrups and whistles of the air which had been popular in America at the time of his departure.

There was no belittling in the expressions of Kathlyn and Pundita. They were about to lose these white people forever, and they were about to lose, nay, worship them. More, they must turn to face they knew not what.

As for Ahmed, he displayed his orientalism by appearing unconcerned. He had made up his mind not to return to America with his master. There was much to do in Allah, and the spirit of intrigue had laid firm hold of him. He would be near at hand when Bamahad struck his blow.

He would break the news to the Colonel. He would break the news to the Colonel. He would break the news to the Colonel.

And that answer struck the hearts of all of them with the coldness of death. Unhappily had beaten them. While he had said, "We have found a half of our heads shall be harmed."

"Allah is fate," he said. "We must return at once to Allah. Truly, the curse of that old girl sticks like the blood leeches of the Bengal swamps. But as you have faith in your man, I have faith in mine."

KING ALFONSO LONGS TO MAKE TOUR OF U. S.

But Royal Custom Forbids, He Tells American Prima Donna, Who Is His Confidant.

London, July 2.—An operative socialist recently returned from Spain tells me that King Alfonso has recently been making a confidant of the Countess Francisca G. de Caceres, the famous prima donna, who was before her marriage Eleanor Broadfoot of Brooklyn, N. Y. The diva was recently invited to sing at a concert in the Royal Palace at Madrid, given by the King and Queen in honor of some guests. At the close of the entertainment the King went around, and in his delightful informal manner he chatted with all the performers. He was especially gracious to the Countess and said in English:

"It has always been one of the great wishes of my life to visit the United States. Indeed, perhaps you may remember that some little while ago a rumor was spread about to this effect, but, alas, my government wouldn't hear of my going and I am kept in check like a schoolboy."

"There are people who tell you that Kings are the finest and the happiest of mortals. How little they know or realize what a King's life is! You are queen of your art, I am only a monarch tied by conventions and protocols from which I cannot escape. So you see that I am free and happier than they."

"I am, I shall never see the United States unless I am sent to exile. But remember that I told you that to do so was one of my most ardent desires."

One-Price Suit Coming
The other day I went to hear Signor Marinetti discourse on "The Futurist Man's Dress," and I confess to some disappointment that the greatest leader of all crazy movements actually wore very ordinary clothes. The fiery philosopher was clad in the traditional deep mourning of an evening dress suit. He appeared for his attire, and explained that the one-piece trouser suit devised by the Futurist artist, Bella, is at present in the hands of a tailor at Rome.

Signor Marinetti had no excuses, however, to offer for the "artistic element" in his attire, which had misguidedly arrived in long coats, sombrero hats and velvet trousers.

"I am sorry to see that futurism is still so grossly misinterpreted," declared the lecturer, as he glanced at a motley group of Bohemians.

"Long and slender hair, uncomfortable hats and ridiculous cloaks have no room in a movement which makes for health, hygiene, comfort, sanity and logic."

Symmetry Ignored
"We are the only people who have a clear and just conception of modern life and we refuse in any way to be connected with so-called romantic pleurodynies. This is another word for decadence."

Signor Marinetti explained that the new one-piece trouser suit will first of all do away with the Futurist idea of symmetry.

"Why not one rod sleeve and the other a square one?" he demanded. "Why meaningless luttons, and, above all, why adherence to one or two colors?"

"The Futurist will have patches of colors, which will stick on his suit at different times of the day to suit his fancy and his occupation. It will be simple and essentially comfortable."

Signor Marinetti stated in conclusion that he had seen the first Futurist costume ever to appear in Rome.

"We probably will be attacked by Futurist crowds," he said, "but what matter, even if it comes to fisticuffs!"

HENS SIT ON EGGS, ENGLAND TO MISSOURI

Jefferson City, Mo., July 2.—Two hens were placed upon fourteen eggs each in a coop in Liverpool, Eng., May 21, and the eggs were put on a steamship for New York. Instructions how to feed the hens were written on the coop. After ten days the hens reached New York and they have arrived in Jefferson City and they are still sitting on the eggs which came in from Liverpool.

The hens were shipped by Judge W. Graves of the Bureau Court. Judge Graves had in the past to get eggs from England from England and without them the eggs for shipping would have been hatching. He had been waiting in train at an airport.

Sympathy Wins Over Law ALL 'SEPTEMBER MORNS' BANISHED FROM RIVER

Washington, July 2.—The Department of Labor has canceled the warrant for the deportation of Raphael Prosserinsky, aged nine, so as to permit the child to stay in the United States with his mother and brother. The mother and her two sons arrived a year ago to join her husband, all of them having been expelled by the Russian authorities from Samarkand, Turkistan.

Six months afterward Raphael's school teacher reported him feeble-minded, and the warrant for deportation was followed. Mrs. Prosserinsky was removed to Ellis Island on May 8 to remain her child to Russia, and had committed suicide.

The warrant was finally canceled on account of the peculiar hardship involved.

Complaints have been received by the bureau from residents of the borough of the actions of scantily clad members of the Summer camps who line the banks of the river near the banks. The bureau investigated and found camps conducted in such a manner that Adam and Eve would have felt perfectly at home.

Complaints also are forbidden to trot through the borough bare-legged and bare most at least have on a bathing suit or kimono.

Canadians who are to be married in London, England, shortly, are J. H. Myne Campbell, eldest son of the late Archibald Hamilton Campbell and Mrs. Campbell, Carleton Place, and Louise Edith, widow of H. A. Harrison, P.C.S., daughter of the late Col. K. M. Morris, and Geoffrey Graham Watson, of London, Ontario.

The bridegroom is the youngest son of the late Gerald T. Watson, of London, Ontario, and Mary Isabel (Mabel), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Kerr Allan, of Edmonton, Alberta.

Madame Dornier, a Canadian prima donna, who, it will be remembered, was found and educated by Lord Strathcona, is staying in the Coliseum, one of the London music halls.

The engagement caused a good deal of talk among those ultra-traditional folk, who imagine that a departure from a concert hall is a blow at art. Her "act" opened with the "Jewel Song" from "Pique," which one reviewer says she sang brilliantly. She closed her 20-minute-or-thereabouts with "Comin' Through the Rye." The audience was most enthusiastic.

Do not let a heavy silence cloud the merriment as it is made a ride under the tablecloth. Buttonholes the cut edges with white darning cotton.

A small pinch of carbonate of soda in the water in which cabbage are boiled preserves the color of the vegetable and lessens the unpleasant odor while boiling.

Always put a cauliflower in plain water so as to draw out any insects. If the insects are in the water, the insects, and they are left in the vegetable.

Common baking powder is one of the best remedies for the removal of warts and corns. Blend with water, moisten the soda several times a day. The warts and corns will quickly disappear.

If the edges of a sawn edge are well buttered the contents will not boil over.

To relieve toothache, rub baking soda round the tooth and rinse the mouth with hot water.

When putting a stopper into a bottle always give it a half turn and then it is in. This will prevent it from sticking.

Sandalwood is one of the things that is not affected by fashion. It is always in demand, whether our clothes for the moment are borrowing their style from the north or the south, the east or the west.

The sandalwood tree is an evergreen, that grows to a height of about 25 feet. As it grows older and taller its wood grows darker, and changes from a very light to a dark yellow.

It is the heart of the tree that is most fragrant. And it is from this heart that the sandalwood is carved into the beautiful, aromatic, and fragrant, that makes the tree familiar to Occidental dwellers.

The tree is native to India, but it is also found in China, perhaps, that the wood is most highly prized. Sandalwood boxes there are greatly appreciated as gifts.

Sandalwood is one of the most fragrant of Oriental incenses. No wonder the jangas who first used it, thought their gods would be pleased by smelling its sweet odor, for when sandalwood is burned it is delightfully fragrant.

TRULY MUSICAL BILL FOR THE PANTAGES ALL OF NEXT WEEK

Music lovers will have the opportunity next week of seeing a truly musical bill at Pantages theater. It is not often that every act on the bill has music in it, but as you look down the line you have a musical comedy revue, a talking and singing skit, marionettes, a character singer and the usual orchestra overture.

The unusual novelty to appear on a vaudeville stage is Stanley's Seminary Girls in a modern musical comedy revue entitled College Capers. The name of the playlet tells the entire story and the man who produces all the laughter is no less a person than Herbert Terry, the well-known comedian.

Although Terry is not known to many Canadian audiences, he is a prime favorite among theatergoers on the coast. The act is very pretentious and is indeed a rare treat.

Then comes the Four Solis Brothers and their marionettes. The Solis Brothers originate and produce the home of the beautiful blond marionettes, and have played since they were children on their native island of the marionettes, which have been described as it is too entirely different from anything else you have ever heard.

Delby Vale and Harry Armit are to be seen in a "Villain's Fun" a delightful singing and talking act, and this week in Winnipeg they are scoring a big hit. Both have pleasing voices and they are sure to give many a treat.

Then comes the character singer, the memory of whom will linger in the minds of the Winnipeg audience, who last year delighted the audiences at the Pantages with his beautiful voice and his character songs. James Brockman is the man, and to give many the name recalls pleasant thoughts.

Indubitably Brockman has one of the finest voices that can be found in the vaudeville stage today and as an impersonator he stands second to none.

Then comes one of these all to the merry comedy sketches, entitled "A Trip to the Coast," in which William Hutchinson and company are going to show the audiences what real comedy is. It is a clever little sketch, and is sure to please the audience.

"JOAN OF ARC" PROVES TO BE ATTRACTION AT THE EMPRESS THEATER

To enjoy one's self with the temperature hovering around the hundred mark seems practically out of the question, but if we should have the most vital part of this story put in it, it would be out in the most logical manner.

The "Hermite" is indeed a compelling drama, telling the story so well known to all, that it should exist between two brothers is a most distressing situation, but it is a story that is so vital that it should be put in it, it would be out in the most logical manner.

forts put forth towards this end and being well appreciated. Amid elegant surroundings, a cool, delightful atmosphere and the best in the motion picture world, permits one to forget the conditions on the outside and enjoy their favorite of photoplay life to their utmost.

The life work of that strong, sweet character, who started the world by her remarkable achievements and successful strategy, is being told in the feature attraction, "Joan of Arc." With almost insurmountable difficulties to overcome, she is permitted a slight conception of her life while endeavoring to place the Dauphin Charles on the throne. Chosen by a higher power to lead the armies of France to victory, she sees the force and precision which predominates her every situation through her unfailing moral and religious conviction.

On the battlefield and military foresight has been the marvel of the age, protecting her superior generalship over the tried veterans of the army of France, who had spent a lifetime in the art of war.

In that last hour of her life, she was to be burned at the stake as one that supreme calmness came over her, resigning herself to the higher judgment after having been tried unscrupulously by her enemies.

Presentation By The EDMONTON CAPITAL

Willis J. Abbot, the versatile writer on International subjects and author of many books of history and travel, spent months in Panama and the Canal Zone in the preparation of this volume. He collected at first hands the complete history of the great Canal, with a wealth of historical data concerning Panama which has never before been written. The result is a human interest story of this beautiful land and its people from the early days when Columbus tried to find a natural waterway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, down to the present time.

Special staff photographers made the hundreds of beautiful views which illustrate practically every page of this exhaustive book.

The well-known artist, E. J. Read, made the sixteen sumptuous water-color studies which are reproduced by the latest color processes on specially made paper.

The Panama Canal, the greatest engineering achievement of the world's history, cost more than $400,000,000

It links the two greatest oceans, and becomes the most important factor in peace and war. So where is the red-blooded inhabitant of this globe that does not feel vitally interested in it? Truly it is the wonder of this progressive age!
